Site map.Q: google-api-ruby-client example not working I'm trying to make a post request, like this: `@client = Google::Api::Client.new do |config| config.http.transport = :json config.http.authorization = Bearer #my access token, which I can get because I'm logged in successfully to google (and I can make requests to other APIs within google) end @client.execute("path/to/json_data", :parameters => { "data" => "some data" })` but for some reason I'm getting this error: Error: `google_api` is not available. I've looked online for solutions and found only one link that worked for somebody, but I don't even know what this means. What is this error, and how do I fix it? A: Replace `:google_api` with `:client` in the second line `@client = Google::Api::Client.new do |config| config.http.transport = :json config.http.authorization = Bearer #my access token, which I can get because I'm logged in successfully to google (and I can make requests to other APIs within google) end @client.execute("path/to/json_data", :parameters => { "data" => "some data" })`
