What's New In?

Calculate Golf Handicap is a small application that calculates your golf handicap from your last 5 scores. The program is free and can be downloaded from the internet. It can be used as an application on any computer. The application will calculate your handicap using a system of par (based on your 3 best scores) and a formula. Your handicap is based on the number of strokes you should take to shoot par. If your scores fall below par, you are given a negative handicap; if your scores fall above par you are given a positive handicap. Input of 5 scores gives the program a minimum of 100 points to work with, enabling it to calculate a correct handicap. Par is based on a ratio of scores. Each score is expressed as a fraction of par. Scores have been rounded to the nearest hundredth. Ratio of a score is the number of points you would score by playing the same hole. Example. Score1: -5.0 Score2: -3.5 Score3: +1.5 Score4: +1.0 Score5: +4.0 The system finds that the ratio of scores is 1.65. When the first 3 scores are entered the following values are calculated: 2.5 Ratio of Scores (2.5/1.65) Ratio 1 (2.5) Ratio of Scores 2.5 Ratio of Scores (2.5) Ratio 2 1.65 Ratio of Scores Example of Calculations: From the above 5 scores, 1.65 is the ratio of scores. To calculate the average handicap for the week:  $2.5 = \text{average score} \times 1.65$   $1.65 = \text{Average Ratio of Scores}$   $3.5 \times 1.65 = 1.65/3.5$   $1.45$  Ratio 3  $1.5 \times 1.65 = 1.33$  Ratio 2  $1.0 \times 1.65 = 1.20$  Ratio 1  $+1.5 \times 1.65 = 1.33$  Ratio 1  $+1.0 \times 1.65 = 1.20$  Ratio 0  $+4.0 \times 1.65 = 1.60$  Ratio 1 Step 1 The above calculations show that a handicap of 1.20 (1.33/1.20) is due to a ratio of scores of 1.20. The Calcul
