You can have this amazing radio streamer with your name on it by joining our team! FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS: Q. How do I get the radio streams to work? A. The first thing you need to do is to download the Yahoo! Widget Engine from the Yahoo! store. After it has been installed, open up its application menu and go to "Settings". In the Settings menu you can set up what position of the page the stream player will be located on, the size of the player itself and the size of the buttons. Q. I can't control the music or the stations. Why? A. Yahoo! Widget Engine is an application that works with Yahoo's Widgets that are a platform for applications and widgets. Q. How do I put my own custom streams in? A. We have created a free application that will allow you to add your own streams, and a couple of other widgets. You can download it from the Yahoo! Store. If you already have the Yahoo! Widget Engine installed, you will still need to use this free application to add your custom widget. Q. I'm having trouble? A. The creators of the Yahoo! Widget Engine will be more than happy to help you. Just drop them an e-mail. Q. Where can I get more information? A. You can read more information about the Yahoo! Widget Engine and its features by going to the Yahoo! Home Page and searching for Yahoo! Widget Engine. Q. Will you sell the application? A. Absolutely not. Q. Will you use my widgets? A. We have no intention of using your widgets. the correct url and parameters for your radio streams. Configuration is done in the Widget's Administration page. Start Listening! When you start the stream, you will be asked for a streaming url. This is required in order to be able to list your radio streamers. The url must be of the format yourstream.com/stream-service. It must start with the dot ('.') because the.html extension is stripped from the url. For example, if your station is www.yourstream.com/stream-service, your url could be rd.yourstream.com/rd. The parameter is optional and should have a "?" at the
