Players can experience a variety of new and improved gameplay features, such as a more balanced ball manipulation system and realistic player movement characteristics. FIFA 22 introduces new manager and player commentaries, which are voiced by FIFA World Cup winning English commentator, Geoff Blake. A new make-up system, overhauled injury system, and brand new crowd atmosphere brings players and fans closer than ever before. “FIFA 22 has improved players and the game is powered by player data,” said Oliver Platt, Head of Pro Clubs, FIFA. “It is based on what players actually do in a match and what they go through, which gives FIFA 22 a unique player experience. Our motto is ‘the player is at the heart of the game.’ The player experience is a cornerstone of FIFA and in FIFA 22, we have delivered a game that gives players the ability to finally create their very own player and become even more immersed in the game.” FIFA 20 introduced “Real Player Motion,” which placed a high emphasis on movement for realistic movement characteristics. This was achieved by a combination of data created from motion capture systems and in-game physics engine. Throughout FIFA 20, players will notice that every move can be made with greater control. Players can sprint more quickly with the sprint power, and tackle moves, spin passes, and shot control are more responsive. Real Player Motion also utilised unique in-game physical engine, which allowed players to run faster, jump higher and slide better. FIFA is now also available on PlayStation 4 and Xbox One, bringing FIFA's next-generation simulation experience to the next generation of console hardware. HyperMotion Technology FIFA 22 delivers a brand new engine using data from an unprecedented number of real-life players. The collected data has been used to ensure the authenticity of the game and guarantee a more realistic gameplay experience. Players will feel a much closer connection with their characters and teammates, taking the experience to a whole new level. “Using the collected data for gameplay mechanics was a completely new concept for FIFA in the past,” said Long

Cheng Lin, Senior Gameplay Lead, FIFA. “It was never used before, which resulted in a lack of clear differentiation from the previous generation. For FIFA 22, we have strived to put together high-end production to create a realistic game experience. We have comprehensively investigated the data for gameplay mechanics, such as player

Football Simulator. FIFA is a big part of EA SPORTS, and has been since 1994, when the FIFA Soccer series first debuted. Players can create teams of 20, and compete in a career mode - FIFA Pro Clubs, Career Mode, Tournaments, Seasons, Friendly Games and Online Matches. Or they can play Online Seasons, Matches, Friendly Games, Leagues, Cups, and a multitude of Leagues and Cups in the Editor. Or just play the single player mode - Kick Off, Training, and Free Kick Simulator. What's new in FIFA 22? Soccer Journey For those of you who purchased FIFA Ultimate Team this year, you can now download the "Soccer Journey" expansion. This is a stand alone expansion pack that plays like an RPG. You go through it in a linear order, and there is no scoring, no items, just you trying to get as far as possible. You can pause the game at any time to go back to training, watch an Insider video or advance. This is a great expansion pack for people who love strategy, like myself. What's new in FIFA 22? Gameplay: Auto Passes Auto Passes have been a staple of the FIFA series for a long time, but there were always ways to defend against them. Now, the AI has been rewritten in such a way that even when you defend as much as you can, even if your players are crowded out, you can still make a pass. It's been a long time coming, but this is the beginning of a shift in how AI play will function in the new version of the game. Double XP for all FIFA modes If you're playing a Career, Playing Online, Training, Friendly or Kick Off match, you'll now be awarded bonus XP and level up quicker. This effect is global for the career mode, leagues, cups, and friendly matches. More international leagues Each year there have been new leagues added in the FIFA series. There are still some nice ones (MLS, Liga MX, Copa Libertadores, UEFA Nations League), but there are now 26 of them in the new version of the game. New injury system Injuries in FIFA have had a little overhaul. Now there is a penalty kick system, with a 1, 2 and 3 penalty kick rule, and players can choose whether they want to take a penalty by pushing
