Website: www.m0rgvskit.com Facebook: www.facebook.com/M0rgVSkIt/ Facebook: www.facebook.com/M0rgVSkItQ: Django can't reference to fields of nested-object I use Postgresql 9.6, Django 1.10. Question: I have three models: Post, Author and Comment. Both Authors and Comments contain a foreign key to Post. Model Comment class Comment(models.Model): user = models.ForeignKey(settings.AUTH_USER_MODEL, blank=True, default=None, on_delete=models.SET_NULL) text = models.TextField() post = models.ForeignKey(Post, on_delete=models.CASCADE) Model Author class Author(models.Model): name = models.CharField(max_length=100) avatar = models.ImageField(default=settings.DEFAULT_IMAGE_URL) Question's solution: A user can "comment" a post by running following command: python manage.py shell import Comment comment = Comment.objects.create(text='foo', post=post) comment.user.save() I need to record author of the comment in Author's table, but, we cannot add another field to Author. If I add this to models.py: @models.permalink @models.has_permalink @receiver(post_save, sender=Author) def create_user_profile(sender, instance, created, kwargs): if created: UserProfile.objects.create(user=instance) instance.author.save() When comment is created, all the Author's fields are updated, but, when comment.user.save() executes, error occurs: Cannot assign "": "UserProfile.user" must be a "Author" instance. Question's solution (For fix the problem, I remove save() method from comment.user, and add author property to comment's ForeignKey-ed model. Comment.user = models.ForeignKey

This is an action-adventure game with RPG elements in which you play the role of a smart girl-adventurer Alicia Quatermain, the granddaughter of a famous traveler Alan Quatermain. In the game you'll solve different puzzles and undertake challenges. You'll travel through the Indian jungles, Tibet, Mongolia, and of course the most luxurious and famous resort in the British province of Rajasthan. There you will have to save the world from the threat of a powerful elemental artifact. The history of the Stone of Fate is told in the form of a story. Your first task is to find out all the secrets of the Stone of Fate. What is it? It is the most powerful artifact in the world. Its legend says that its owner is entitled to unlimited energy and he will use it to rule the world. Why Alicia? She is a smart girl with a dream to fight for the truth. This game is available in Arabic, English, French, German, Greek, Italian, Japanese, Russian, Spanish, Swedish and Turkish.

Q: Android: SoapUI Mock return multiple values I'm using SOAPUI to return mock values from a Rest web service. I would like to return multiple values per operation. In the json response from the service i have an array containing objects. I want to return this as a list of objects which i can then use to setup a test. The service method is something like this, but the response is always the first item in the list.

public List getTestList() throws SoapFault{ List listOfTestLists = new ArrayList(); try { // Read all the TestLists from the database List testListList = testListDAO.getAllTestLists(); for (TestList testList : testListList) { //get the TestList TestList test = new TestList(); test.setId(testList.getId()); test.setName(testList.getName
