Explore the world where technology has taken over and made life easier. Explore dangerous wastelands, closed research labs and meet with the locals. Use all your skills to survive in a non-stop shooting, collecting, hacking and puzzle-solving frenzy! A: you can do better than 1 star. A real game and not just a flash game. No wait, scratch that. Hexicube is the best game you could ever get. You play a robot to balance hexagons. (hexahedron). A: As a complement to Mendicant B's awesome answer, there is a free flash game built around the concept: You play a robot that reaches a hexagonal shape. Also you have an energy source that can spread across adjacent hexagons. Gives the feeling of the game below, where the player has to reach the goals on each of the stages but in order to get there he needs to use some strategies to balance in the gravity of the levels... :) The game : Hexicube As you can see it's a free flash game. The Source of the game : You can add the game as an achievement if you like : Kinetics of ZnO-mediated degradation of hexachlorobenzene in deionized water under constant current conditions. Hexachlorobenzene (HCB) is a ubiquitous and recalcitrant organochlorine compound that can cause health problems to the environment and to wildlife. The use of nanomaterials (NMs) in the environment could be one of the causes of increasing HCB levels in the environment. However, the addition of NMs to water bodies may promote the degradation of HCB, indicating that NMs could be a promising tool for the degradation of this organochlorine compound. The objective of this work was to study the degradation of HCB in aqueous media with and without ZnO-NP under constant current conditions. The kinetic analysis of the HCB degradation showed that the rate constant increased with increasing current density and decreasing particle concentration. The degradation was also associated with the production of chloride, which indicated that Cl(-) ions were released by ZnO-NP as a consequence of charge transfer. The presence of Cl(-) ions would increase

You're the new boss of a factory. You are up against 27 Elves. You are a wooden planchette. You are about to become the newest toy of Santa. You have to outrun the elves and hope that Father Christmas doesn't love you more than he loves Christmas. The Wintery theme of the game is here with a new, modern feeling of the classic game. Features: Huge maps that will test your strategy & actions Choose one of nine different stats to give yourself a boost A variety of upgrades and powerful devices to get you out of a sticky situation Meet Santa - You are now the new toy for the jolly man in the red suit The game starts with you as a 14-day clock. It is not yet christmas, but you are up against your peers. You'll have to deal with the snow, Christmas packages, and the Christmas elves. You are about to realize that you are but a small wooden planchette. Your goal will be to outrun the potpourri of elves, deliver the packages, and survive until the end of the 14-day game. You will be able to choose one of 9 different stats. 1) Magic: You'll have a basic weapon and a special bonus weapon. 2) Health: You'll be able to heal yourself with a healing device. 3) Speed: You'll be able to move faster. 4) Stamina: You'll be able to fight more powerful enemies. 5) Weaponry: You'll be able to upgrade your weapons. 6) Defense: You'll be able to defend yourself with shields. 7) Attacking: You'll be able to attack enemies, if you dare. 8) Maintenance: You'll be able to repair yourself. 9) Other: This stat is reserved. You're set to fight 27 opponents. - Use up your magic and repair your planchette. - Watch for traps and your stats and use them wisely. - Work together with the other bots to defeat the elves and survive the 14-day game. The end of the game will depend on you. - Try to be as evil as possible, just for the hell of it. - If you can beat the elves (and hope that Santa doesn't love you more than he loves christmas),

What's new in Dungeons Amp; Bombs:

Collecting a real-life problem Players on The Fishing Planet: 12 Each player starts with a fishing lure, which is made up of two components: the reel and the net. The fisherman uses the lure to cast the net to the water and nets a real-life problem, which contains a TinyTech, a Magicite, and at least one Btwouncy. The fisherman then has the option to sell the problem at a Savepoint store for Ctimettes, or to display it and take a picture in his logbook for a chance to win a prize, in which case he'll turn the problem in to Fish and Logs for a chance at a small prize. TinyTechs are the most valuable items in the game, in no small part because of the small chance of obtaining them by default. They net creatures as large as the third largest landable fish in the game, but they're pretty rare. There are currently over 15,000 TinyTechs in the wild. Magicites are the rarest items in the game, in most cases because they don't even appear in the wild unless the fisherman buys them off dealers. There are currently over 12,000 Magicites in the wild. Btwouncy can also be found by fishing, but only the most skilled players will be able to net one. There are currently over 7,000 Btwouncy in the wild. Fishing Planet Nature Haven't seen that in a while! Made for The Fishing Planet and I hope you enjoy it. Made in Adobe Illustrator CS5.2. Lost all the progress with eclipse so had to redo everything. TinyTechs Amazon Fulfillment glitch Hi GM guys. I was overwhelmed with all the TinyTechs I have been making, so I added the collection to my cart and reserved the basket for release. Upon trying to input my Shipping Info, I can't find my shipment code. The code never returns it if I click "Continue Shopping" and I was wondering if its saved somewhere or if I entered it incorrectly? I don't remember entering it. I have remembered the code if I go into the url bar and look for the shipping information, but I have to wait for 48 hours to get the code as I was going to ship them on 3/26. I have now reserved the basket for release on 3/26. Am
