You can edit the colors of the image, add highlights and shadows, and use the healing brush tool to repair any blemishes. You can apply effects like motion blur, blur, depth of field, and sharpening, just as you would with any other program. You can add captions or apply text to the photo, and use adjustment layers to brighten the image or lower the contrast. The Pro Features To earn the "Pro" designation, you can access more features: You can create a series of layers from which you can print to a photo printer. You can apply a few more specialized filters to your photo, such as paintbrush, sketch, and watercolor. You can open and save in the DNG format, which preserves your original data and

, but no one in our family ever made more than $10K a year. It was good work that kept us fed and clothed, but, you know, it really didn't bring in much. Eventually it's necessity, not opportunity, that allows people to do better. So with our own children, we didn't worry about making so much money. We'd spend whatever was in our accounts, and we wanted them to have good stuff. We both went to school during that time and worked at the same time, because my mother was ill, and at the age of 45 her health collapsed, so we were really focused on being able to take care of her in her later years. Now, my mother is in her 90s. She survived the Great Depression and she and my father had given their entire lives to making ends meet. Now, they're living on Social Security. They have a pension, but it's a small one. My husband and I are concerned for our children. We worry that they will not have as good a life as we did because they will not have access to the kinds of things we did. I know that there's such a thing as generational advantage, and we're experiencing it in our own home. My daughter is going to college, her husband is a stay-at-home dad and he's going to school in the evenings, but he works full-time when he's not in school. He's going to be a very well paid professional, and he's working very hard to get there. He's taking it seriously and he wants to be a doctor. I'm grateful that I was the mom who made them have good stuff. If I had any advice for my daughters, it would be: Make good choices about the things you want, make good choices about the things you buy, and then make sure you do the work that it takes to earn what you want.
