The game TetrotronVR has become available in 360o for all devices. Only absolutely non-standard puzzles and very beautiful graphics and anime-style animation will make you feel like you are on Mars. Speaking about the game, it is perfectly understandable, because TetrotronVR is like Tetron, only less complicated. Everything is simplified to the maximum extent possible, this is about 100 puzzles. All your friends and acquaintances will be able to find immediately which one of them would be the best. What is TetrotronVR? Whether you are a student or already played Tetron games, TetrotronVR is a game that it will be interesting. One of the new features of TetrotronVR is that, instead of the x and y numbers, there is simply the use of a line, so instead of the grid of numbers you will be using the wall. The game starts from the beginning, but after about 20 puzzles you'll have to deal with the more complicated ones, and then you can even dare to explore the entire planet. The boundaries are varied. You can go anywhere, but for a small number of rooms you will have to solve the puzzle on the walls. It is different from Tetron: there is no combo system, and it does not have any penalty. Think about old Tetron game and you will find TetrotronVR is really like it! But there is one small difference: You can use all your fingers on the touch screens, the TetroVR is 3DO. And to all the joy of TetrotronVR! published:19 Apr 2018 views:3226 Puzzle of the week: Puzzle of the day: My name is McGynie and I have been paper crafting ever since the 80s. My first ever make was a paper doll set when I was only 4! I was inspired by my sister who had developed an interest in paper-craft. I started my own business and I made and sold my first paper set when I was about twelve. Thinking I would just have fun and make some small, cute and pretty things, I was surprised when I was contacted by some of the big companies to make some items for them. Of course I had to say "yes" and I've

Guide Why this survival guide? As a working Amazonian, I was in growing need of how-to and survival guide knowledge for my daily life. I stumbled upon a website about an abandoned monastery located in the Amazon jungle. I couldn't put down my brain to the beauty of the jungle. This website also translated into very valuable knowledge about all things Amazonian. I loved every second I spent on it. This website holds dedicated articles on a variety of topics: 1. Amazonian flora, fauna, culture, history, and lifestyle 2. Amazonian language, traditions, and terms of currency 3. Amazonian ways to attract and earn positive energy or good luck in your life 4. Amazonian traveling (besides the standard Amazon Jungle), with things to do, places to visit, and how to avoid poisonous snakes, bugs, and getting lost Learn how to become a Brazilian Camel Rider (Duca-de-cabresto) Snakes are not the only thing you should worry about when you're in the Brazilian Amazon. The Brazilian river dolphins also have a reputation of being the most poisonous marine animals. They have a venomous sting and, if you get in contact with them, it will feel like you've just had a bee sting. What can you do to avoid being stung by a Brazilian river dolphin? Develop your observational skills. You can identify the dolphins in the group by their markings and avoid them if they look agitated or even if they spit water at you. Use an umbrella when swimming or floating in these waters. Be aware of your surroundings and pay attention to dolphin behavior before swimming. Practice walking, paddling, or swimming in these waters. The chances of getting attacked go significantly down if you can paddle, swim, or even walk in these waters. The in-universe cult classic game that changed the way people live their lives in the 1980s. To be exact, your life in Spacebase Startopia. Back then, most video games required you to follow a linear narrative with clear and obvious goals, but Spacebase had something revolutionary to offer. Spacebase's narrative follows a series of failed missions, complete with an ex-military pilot, a girl scout, a petrified star, evil twins who get lost in an abandoned flying saucer, a giant fly and a monkey. Other than that, the gameplay is linear. But you can do things on your own in no time. There are various "encounters" along the way, which are just part of the game, but they give you the freedom to explore the world and all its inhabitants. You can listen to the radio, fall in love, crash into space, blow up space objects, steal spaceship parts from other races, repair broken spaceship parts, get an extra heart if you think the others are out of shape, milk cows, go shopping, get dressed up, take a shower and use an important item in the base, among other things. It's a fun game. You have free will. The world is randomized. You have a computer-controlled player. There are no enemies or bosses. This means, every time you start a new game, the game is different. There are no levels. You can win the game and have fun in the process. You never know what might happen next. This is the freedom of Spacebase Startopia. This soundtrack features original compositions by Jo-Ei Sonnenburg and Jakke Borg. Music is performed live by the Trondheim Symphony Orchestra. Key Features: An Original Game Soundtrack: Original compositions from the game's soundtrack that will accompany you through your first 40 hours in the game. Experience This Music Live: Played live on the Trondheim Symphony Orchestra's album "Spacebase Startopia: Retrospectra!" Deep In The Heart: Meet the creatures, robots and people who live in the world of Spacebase Startopia. Your own combination of songs! : Your own combination of songs - you choose where you listen to the song, you can listen to it loud or soft, there is no limit to your choices. TBA: atm I haven't add all the tracks, but most of them are on the soundtrack's official page. And there are still a few
