If you are new to the concept of video editing, it can be overwhelming to try to load an hour-long episode into a shared drive where only a 100MB partition is available for editing. Don't worry! You can still edit a single minute of video in your 5-minute episode and share the final result with your audience. In this episode, I show you how to do just that with Adobe Premiere Pro, step-by-step! . We'll also show how to stream footage from a digital camera directly into the computer without needing to connect that camera to a card reader or other external device first. . Once we've got our video, I'll show you how to slow down or speed up that video to match your content or to compensate for how long or short your content is, then add transitions and titles to further polish your video! . What this means is that if you have a premiere project and if you place the audio file(s) in the same directory as the video, then you'll see the dialog box right away - which is what we want! This way, you can start the editing process right away with the help of the timeline and all the other tools that Premiere Pro has to offer. Let's get started!
